Summer Fun! - 3

Antique Tractors - 4

Bobbi Klima has spent 89 years enjoying life and believes she knows the secret to living well-- "I had a good husband and a lot of good friends and family. Being with them helps me enjoy life."

Bobbi grew up on a farm with her brother and sister near Cuba, Kansas. The family loved anything outdoors, especially fishing. They would fish in about any puddle. "We went up to Lovewell Lake quite a lot,” says Bobbi.

The family also traveled in the summer once they finished up with harvest. Sometimes they went fishing in Minnesota, but many times they drove to Oregon to visit Bobbi’s aunt. They would camp and picnic along the way.

“One time, when we woke up in the morning, we discovered we weren’t very far from a ravine,” remembers Bobbi. Many times, they stopped after dark and didn’t see much of their campsite until the morning.

On Saturdays, Bobbi and her family would head into Cuba. “As kids, we walked around the block several times. We’d have a little money and buy pop or ice cream.”

Bobbi met her future husband at school and “snarfed him up there” as she recalls it. Charles didn’t fish and wasn’t much of an outdoors person, but Bobbi changed that. “I taught him to fish and he loved it,” says Bobbi. Bobbi even has a couple of fish mounted from their fishing trips together.

Bobbi and Charles had one son. Bobbi remembers taking him to Oregon when he was a baby. Bobbi and her sister rode in the backseat of the car with him.

Bobbi attributes living as long as she has to the good friends and family around her. “I look forward to having my family come and getting together with them. I just love being around them.”

Bobbi says people shouldn’t worry about thinking they need to have everything. “Enjoy what you have and enjoy your family. That’s the best thing. You don’t have to have more than what the next person has,” she says.

Summer Vibes

Sunset Home residents participated in memorable activities during June, including viewing antique tractors, a visit to the Broadway Plaza and splash pad, watermelon feed, and a trip to the exotic pet store.

Antique Tractor Collection

On June 8th, Kevin Honeycutt of Concordia, Kansas brought three antique Allis-Chalmers tractors to Sunset Home. Residents spent time viewing the tractors and discussing the equipment they used on the farm.

Dana Kettermann

Joan Pickard remembers having the prominent orange tractors on her childhood farm and that they were sold by the Swanson Equipment dealer in Cuba, Kansas.

Honeycutt brought a WD45 model--the first tractor available with power steering. Gene Ganstrom drove a WD45 when he was a young man working on his family farm. Many families in north central Kansas did not have a tractor until the late 1940s and 1950s.
